Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Singing to the tune of "I Love You, California," two charming young ladies recently rendered at a Townsend club meeting an adaption of this state song, substituting verses, the refrain of which was "I Love You Doctor Townsend," The state song is so well known, so long and so popular, that we suggest that it be divided up among a number of California celebrities. Each verse to begin with a different name. Suggestions are as follows: "I Love You Harry Bridges"; "I Love You, Upton Sinclair,"; "I Love You, Governor Merriam," But why stick to California. Let's be broad minded and catholic in our songs. Why not, "I Love You, Marion Zioncheck."

It is with a feeling of dismay, one reads in the accounts of the Black Legion that at least one member of it is, or was, a superior judge. On reflection, however, there may be some logic in the action of a judge who enrolls in a direct action organization for the ostensible purpose of promoting and dispensing justice.

As a matter of fact, it is only when constituted courts fail that popular indignation results in the organization of these extra legal groups which undertake drastic action to curb outlawry. A judge, who year after year had seen justice balked in his own court through the machinations of smart attorneys working on the prejudices of dull juries, might feel himself justified in joining a group, whose avowed purpose was to administer speedy justice.

The Black Legion cannot of course be compared with the California Vigilantes. The latter were men of high character, intelligence and courage, while the Black Legionnaires were, judging from their record, off-scourings. It is reported the Black Legion is the successor of the Ku Klux Klan. It usually is the fanatic and lunatic fringes of ordered society which undertake to remedy the ills and correct the diseases of the social body first. Later on the more substantial elements of the body politic go into action with better and more lasting results.

One corrective and remedial influence which over a long term of years has worked consistently, and frequently with excellent results, in aiding to simplify and to make more effective our California institutions of justice is the Commonwealth Club. To such an organization as this we may look with the assurance that every measure proposed by it has been carefully weighed and, if enacted into law, we can be reasonably certain that it will accomplish the good intended.

GOOD WILL PROGRAMS BY HIGH STUDENTS

During this final week of school, a number of goodwill programs will be presented by the music and dramatic departments of the local high school. The first of these was given before the Rotary club last week and repeat programs will be held this week at the Washington grammar school and at some of the country schools. This gesture of goodwill from the Nevada City high in the form of a varied program will be continued in future years and should meet with a great deal of gratitude from those entertained.

The program planned includes the following numbers: Two groups of songs by a mixed chorus under Mrs. Libbey; saxophone solo, Marlin Young; clarinet solo, Evelyn Bailey; cornet duet, Ruth Curnow and Ray Wilde; one act play, "Frenzied Finance" with the following students taking part: Tom Rickard, Clemens Organ, John Radich, and Walter Warnecke.

SUPERVISOR ARBOGAST IS SEEKING RE-ELECTION

Carey S. Arbogast has announced his candidacy for re-election as supervisor of the first supervisorial district.

Carey Arbogast has been supervisor in this district during the past four years and has been a faithful representative of its people.

He is a Nevada county native, having been born at Blue Tent.

When elected four years ago, he brought to the board an understanding of the needs of his district gained through his life of activity in the county.

VERNE GLEASON NEW SCOUT LEADER

Troop 6, Boy Scouts of America, met Thursday evening at Firemen's Hall for their final meeting under Scoutmaster George R. Schrader. Taking over the scoutmastership of Mr. Schrader, who is being transferred to another national forest, is Verne Gleason, well known resident of Nevada City and graduate of the University of California.

As a token of their esteem for the retiring leader, the scouts presented Mr. Schrader with a farewell gift. The new scoutmaster was introduced, and the boys enjoyed an evening of scout activity and recreation.

The local troop has grown rapidly in past weeks and is making a very definite contribution to the community life of Nevada City. Having made its first public appearance since reorganization, in the Memorial Day services of Saturday, the unit promises to play an active part in future public affairs. Scoutmaster Verne Gleason is assisted on the staff of leaders by Bob Tucker, and John Hodgson, forest ranger at Big Bend.

Any boys past the age of twelve who are interested but have not yet become a part of this growing organization would attend the next troop meeting on Thursday evening at 7:00 p. m. at Firemen's Hall.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF COUNTY ARE HEALTHY

Mrs. Isobel Hefelfinger, county health nurse, is making a survey of Washington grammar school children today. She is practically through with her health survey of Nevada County children and has found their condition very good.

Parents of Nevada City grammar school children will soon receive notices of any defects that need correcting in order that they can care for them before beginning of shool next fall.

Mrs. Hefelinger states the public in general will be pleased to know that in a recent health survey in the three high schools of Nevada county there were only three cases of incipient tuberculosis that needed supervision. Those cases are not active but needed care. Parents of all children who had X-hays in the recent tuberculosis checkup will receive notices during the next week. All X-rays are to be returned to the family physician and parents wishing further information in regards to their child's condition may get this information from their doctor.

CONCERT AT SEAMAN'S LODGE THURSDAY NIGHT

Music lovers of Nevada City will be glad to know that the concert of the music department of Nevada City high which was postponed recently because of inclement weather, will definitely be held Thursday evening, June 4, at 8:00 p. m. Since the concert is to be presented outside at Seamans Lodge in Pioneer Park, is is necessary that weather conditions be proper, and only a steady downfall of rain will prevent the Thursday evening presentation.

A full program of vocal and instrumental numbers will be presented with L. E. Sweeney, and Mrs. Libbey in charge. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged those who attend. This reduction in concert ticket prices from former years is made possible because of the presentation in the community park.

CAMPTONVILLE

By ACTON M. CLEVELAND

CAMPTONVILLE, May 31.—Wednesday was a busy day in the local justice court when the following cases were disposed of:

Earl Buckner, of Forest, who was arrested Sunday by Traffic Officer A. J. Ponta, pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding, not having any certificate in the car, and not having an operator's license.

George Lang, of this place, who was arrested Sunday five miles south of Town by Constable John Jaynes, on a charge of driving without due caution, likewise entered a plea of guilty.

George Rose, local youth, who was also arrested by Constable Jaynes for operating a motor vehicle upon the highway without an operator's license, plead guilty to the offense.

A fine of $10,000 was levied upon each defendant by Judge Acton M. Cleveland.

HI ANNUAL 'THE QUILL' PRAISED AS WORK OF ART

Volume thirty three of "The Quill," the annual of the Nevada City high school, made its appearance in published form at the high school last Friday morning, much to the pleasure and enjoyment of the students and faculty members. Having been designated this year for the first time as a publication of "the student body of the Nevada City high school" instead of the senior class alone, the yearbook was felt to be more a part of the tntire student group.

Using the theme, "Trees," this year, the student editors took advantage of the opportunity to display several beautiful photographs of various types of trees. As a first page to every separate section of the book, some selected photograph of a tree was reproduced. The art work and poety included also lent itself to the theme.

Purple and Gold, the colors of the high school, were used both in the cover design and throughout the pages of the annual. The cover is of a natural wood, with a purple backing carrying the title of the publication in gold lettering. The entire book is printed in purple ink.

Group photographs this year are clear and well organized. As in former years, the photography was handled by Maurice of Grass Valley. Three very cleverly arranged pages of humorous photographs are included in the rear section of the book and are of a genuinely humorous and laugh provoking nature.

Cecelia Woods, editor of the 1936 Quill is to be complimented upon its successful publication. Many months of concentrated effort were required of the hard working staff who managed to succeed as they did only under the faithful guidance of Miss Eva Flewellyn, faculty member and Quill advisor.

Copies of the annual may be secured by those interested from several local stores and from the office at the high school. A limited supply of annuals remains for sale to the public.

Delamore of Marysville, in which his leg was amputated at the knee. Mr. Thomas has been at the Jones Memorial hospital since the accident and every effort had been made to save the leg. He is still in a serious condition through he stood the operation well.

HOWARD ROSS BUSY WITH NEW CONTRACTS

Howard Ross, the contractor, has several noteworthy jobs in progress. Among others he is modernizing and remodeling the interior of the Otto Schiffner home on Prospect Hill. Hardwood floors throughout the home are to be laid. Two modern bath rooms, a fire place, a laundry room, plate glass windows, interior painting and decorating are some of the improvements which he will make in this residence.

In addition to the fine new chapel, Mr. Ross has recently completed for the Holmes Funeral Home, Mr. Ross has been asked to remodel and modernize the operating room, and install sanitary flooring, wainscoting, plumbing and sanitos.

Cain's auto court is being expended under Mr. Ross' supervision. Several new garages are to be built and many of the rooms remodeled.

William Faulkner of Marysville arrived a few days ago to join the local WPA crew working on the county roads.

Lester Morris left Thursday for Sierraville to join the Forest Service at that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cryer and son of Oakland are visiting Mrs. Anna Tucker on Sacramento street.

TAX SCHEMES IN NEED OF STUDY

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

If there is one governmental subject above all others which requires calm deliberation and careful analysis, rather than precipitate action, that subject, without doubt, is taxation!

By reason of its complexity, taxation is perhaps the least understood of all governmental problems, insofar as the rank and file of voters are concerned.

Yet it is the one function of government most vital to every citizen affecting his business, his income, his temper—and the welfare of his home and family.

California, under the circumstances, and especially in light of the social unrest and public distrust of public agencies which have come sharply into focus during the depression and post-depression period, must do everything possible to guard against tax injustice or tax-discrimination, and to restore coifidence in its government.

Most of all, it must recognize that taxation without proper consideration is unfair to the millions of taxpayers who must foot the bill.

These fundamentals of good government are particularly pertinent at this time, due to the agitation in some quarters for the enactment of a gross transactions tax, or gross income tax, as a substitute for the present state income and sales taxes.

Without regard to the merits or demerits of the gross transactions tax, certain it is that such a revolutionary program should be studied carefully and thoroughly — with ample opportunity for review of its provisions by all classes of taxpayers —before it is finally drafted and submitted to a vote.

First proposed by State Controller Ray L. Riley, the gross transavtions program has received its chief support from the moving picture industry and other opponents of the newly enacted state income tax, led by Byron Hanna, Los Angeles attorney.

And recently reports have come from the motion picture colony that an attempt may be made to place the measure on the November ballot by initiative petitions.

It is to be hoped that wiser counsel will prevail and that the various tax groups of the state—agriculture, business, industry, labor, home owners and taxpayers generally—will be given the right to study the measure, and possibly suggest corrections or additions, before they are compelled to render their verdict.

There are many questions to be answered before California taxpayers can vote intelligently. And they are asked without prejudise—solely in the interest of intelligent action!

For example:

Is the proposed tax a true transactions tax—applying to each transaction? In short, is it a turn over tax?

If so, will it place California business at a distadvantage with outside business—taxing California made and California distributed commodities on each turn over, while out of state products entering California are taxed but once or twice?

If a 1 per cent gross tax is applied, will it not be far higher than the present 3 per cent sales tax (which is only applied once) on farm products, etc., which frequently turn over six or seven times from producer to consumer?

Are there any definite estimates of revenues which the gross transactions tax will yield—at any definite rate?

Will the adoption of such a tax disrupt business by forcing a readjustment to eliminate many transactions which otherwise would be taxable?

Is it true that the tax will force business men, farmers, manufacturers, etc., to set up elaborate bookkeeping systems to enable them to report correctly on the tax?

There are many other questions—not the least of which is the query: What exceptions are to be made? What exemptions will be allowed?

If the program is carefully outlined and submitted to the next session of the State Legislature for thorough debate, pro and con, with public hearings and an opportunity for public expression, these questions can be answered.

But to submit the plan to California voters now, without such study, would be comparable to demanding a "Yes" or "No" vote on the hackneyed question. "Have you stopper beating your wife yet?"

HOT RACE FOR OFFICES AT HI

A collection of campaign signs, boasting some very novel and original slogans and ideas, may be seen by those who visit the local high school the early part of this week. Amid a spirit of fun and excitement a very intense rivalry exists between the students who are casting their caps into the political ring. A long list of candidates has been approved and is awaiting election day.

Added to the list of candidates for vice president is Philip Joyal. The other candidates have been mentioned in the Nugget.

The interest this year seems to be higher pitched than for some time in the past.

HI STUDENTS TO PICNIC TUESDAY

Tomorrow afternoon, the all school picnic of the Nevada City high will be held at Lake Olympia with an attendance of over two hundred high school students expected. An afternoon of swimming, boating, and organized games will keep the students busy until evening when dancing will be enjoyed. Light refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

The custom of an all school picnic was begun a few years ago as a gesture to do away with skip days. Two periods of the afternoon schedule of classes are dismissed for this occasion, and the group travels in a unit to the picnic grounds. Faculty members will be present with the young people.

MEMORIAL DAY CEREMONIES ARE HELD HERE

The Memorial Day parade in Nevada City was one of beauty and impressiveness with the long line of marchers starting near Armory Hall on Broad street and going out Boulder to Pine Grove cemetery and then to the Catholic cemetery. They were led by Commander Ed Rose, Banner Mt. Post, V. F. W., of Nevada City and Mr. Luther Marsh, past commander of Hague-Thomas-Hegarty Post, American Legion. These commanders marching to the stirring music of the Grass Valley and Nevada City high school bands, were followed by the massed colors, Boy Scouts, Veterans, Auxiliary members of both posts; Grass Valley high school band, Nevada City high school students, Nevada City high school band and grammar school pupils. Fully 100 automobiles followed the marchers carrying several hundred persons to Pine Grove cemetery.

At the cemetery Judge George L. Jones was speaker of the day. He read the Gettysburg address as a tribute to the Civil War veterans resting in their plot nearby and eloquently touched on the patriotism of the World War veterans and the part they played in the world conflict. While at the time it was felt the world was through with wars and its terrific sacrifice of the youth of the land, it was still a war sick world not fully recognized from its horrors. He quoted statements of a former commander of the American Legion and a leader of the V. F. W. stressing the importance of stamping out communism. Judge Jones urged all children present, as future rulers of this country, to be loyal to the American flag which represents the government. He also urged the importance of making any changes in the constitution of the United States government that may be desired by orderly methods and that watchful care should be taken in combatting the danger of communism entering to destroy this, the best government on earth

Boquets of flowers carried by the school children were placed on the graves of all soldiers.

Rebuilding America

(Contributed)

"Let us rebuild America!"

From California last week this call boomed over the nation's radio networks in a speech by Alfred P. Sloan, president of General Motors, who was a guest of this state. He said this nation could attain prosperity beyond anything men had ever dreamed.

Now many are sharply opposed to Sloan's political views. But our real problems are rooted in non-political economics, where this executive is not exactly a novice. His main point should interest everyone. He said:

"Our difficulty is not overproduction. It is underconsumption."

And at the core of his whole economic thesis for rebuilding America is the theory of increasing consumption by low prices. From one of the nation's largest producers, a man who sells things, that may surprise you. But the economics of it is basic and elementary.

Produce efficiently, distribute efficiently, take a small profit on each individual unit—and millions more consumers can buy. Then millions more can go to work producing for a broadened market, and in turn buy more with their wages. It is the prosperity spiral upward.

"Our difficulty is not overproduction. It is underconsumption."

According to Sloan, then, those producing organizations, and those retail distributing organizations who operate on such a premise are helping to rebuild America.

Is he right? America has come a long way by this procedure, crashing only when credit collapsed after inflating prices beyond all reason. Perhaps, in this job of rebuilding, we shall know enough to cling to the economics that originally started America along the road to greatness.

VISITS BOYHOOD HOME

CAMPTONVILLE, May 30.—After being absent for 41 years A. Clifford Gage, Portland newspaper and magazine publisher visited his old home here a few days ago. His father was a minister and school teacher here in the early days. They resided in the house at present owned by E. J. Price. He found the old home and of all his boyhood friends only a few remain. His nephew, Warren D. Allen is professor of music at Stanford University. Gage publishes the only magazine on angora goats in the state of Oregon.

MECHANIC LOOKS FOR HOME

Mr. E. A. Roberts, first class mechanic of Oroville, has been selected by Mr. Jack Mlnarich, of the Signal Oil company garage on Broad street, to fill the position of chief mechanic. Mr. Roberts was not able to rent a house in Nevada City and moved his little home, built on a trailer, to this city with his car. The house will be parked on a lot on the Tahoe-Ukiah highway purchased by Mr. Mlnarich some time ago. Mr. Roberts will be accompanied by his wife and small son.

'I LOVE YOU DR. TOWNSEND' NEW CLUB SONG

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

NORTH SAN JUAN, May 28.—One of the most enthusiastic Townsend meetings I have ever attended was held by the French Corral Townsend Club No. 1 in the historic little wooden schoolhouse in Birchville Wednesday evening.

This club is particularly fortunate in that it has for its president Mr. Miles Tilden of North San Juan. His energy is inexhaustible: his enthusiasm contagious; and his whole body an electric dynamo that manufactures power for the great determination that the Townsend Plan must succeed.

Mr. Borton of French Corral opened the meeting with one of his beautiful inspirational prayers that can come only from a mind wholly clean and religious. Mr. Tilden in a clear firm voice led the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Mr. Woodcock at the piano played America and the rafters rang to the strains of the patriotic old song as the voices of young and old joined in.

The regular business of the evening was carried through in Mr. Tilden's fine methodical fashion and at the closing of the last detail the Misses Clara and Elaine Kessler, accompanied at the piano by Miss Hazel Irene Tilden, sang, "I Love You Dr. Townsend."

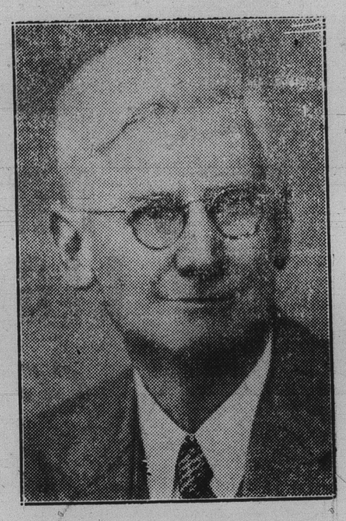

Mr. Tilden then introduced Colonel Van Kritzenger of Mt. Shasta. The Colonel, as he is fondly called, is hale and hearty and humorous. One of the whole-souled Townsend organizers and speakers who are the very life blood of this great movement. In his inimitable spontaneous fashion he addressed the meeting and in turn introduced Mr. Ralph Fulcher, speaker of the evening.

Mr. Fulcher was formerly State Area Director of San Francisco. His silver tongued oratory, coupled with his clear insight of the Townsend Plan, and his magnificent ability to hold the attention of the entire assembly for over an hour made his appearance here on the Ridge an event long to be remembered. I have been a member of the French Corral Club since its organization, and not once have I discovered the slightest single symptom of its faltering, even for a moment, and with the inspiration of such an intelligent man as Mr. Fulcher I know this club will leap ahead to a bigger and better goal.

After Mr. Fulcher finished speaking and answering questions Colonel Van Kritzenger began a progressive auctioning of a box of groceries. His humorous method and good spirit made of this a hilarious event. Mrs. W. E. Moulton of French Corral finally bid the highest and like all good Townsendites promptly sent it back to be auctioned again. This time Mr. H. E. Robinson of North San Juan bought it, and all told, the event brought a neat sum to the club treasurer.

Without the ladies no organization of mixed company is a success. This was proven by the fact that the ladies of this club had previously made boxes of sandwiches, dozen of delicious home made cakes, rich with creams and icings, and pots of fragrant steaming coffee. All this was passed out with a lavish hand and a happy smile.

Nor did the festivities end with refreshments. The benches were shoved back against the wall and with piano, accordion, and flute, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Vice president of the Grass Valley Club, Mr. Charles H. Huff and Mrs. Huff were honor guests of the evening.

PROPER LIGHTING costs so little

EYESIGHT IS PRICELESS

The Better Sight table lamp pictured to the left gives you generous light over the entire surface of table and desk. In addition it throws enough light upward and throughout the room to get rid of eye-straining shadows.

LIGHT that is safe for grown-up eyes is not always safe for children's eyes. Young eyes are still growing; gaining strength. That is why eyestrain caused by reading or studying in poor light may lead to eye trouble in later years. Proper lighting helps healthy eye development just as proper food builds sturdier bodies.

The new Better Sight lamps give ample, soft, diffused light that promotes comfortable seeing and protects eyesight. Buy one of these better lamps today.

Check up on the lighting in your home. Fill the empty sockets and replace old lamps with new so that you will always have good light when you read or study.

Good light never was so cheap. Lamp bulbs today are twice as efficient—give twice as much light as they did in 1921. And they cost 66% less. Then, too, the Reduced Electric Rates mean Good Lighting is Cheaper than ever before.

The Narrow Gauge is a Home Industry

There is one activity close to the heart of every Chamber of Commerce in the United States—the effort to get new industries.

In many cases bonuses are paid, in cash, or land, or guarantees, or special priviliges.

Why?

Because new industries mean investment, taxable property, payrolls spent in the community.

How many towns the size of Grass Valley or Nevada City would be interested in getting an industry that averages over thirty employees, which pays out annually over $46,000 in wages, over $5,000 in taxes?

Mighty few towns that wouldn't be interest, we think.

And yet this, the payroll and expenditures of the Narrow Gauge, and we are righ here—and have been here for sixty years.

The point we make is—that if we would be important to the community if we weren't here, we certainly must be important to the community because we are here!

All we ask is your support through your transportation patronage. Route your shipments via the Narrow Gauge, whether they are going out or coming to you.

Remember the money we arn here is spent here.
